

Family Saturday Science 11th February

Explorers Fair

BROADWAY // 10am - 5pm //
(Free and Ticketed Activities)

Fun family focussed activities from designing your own digital kite and flying them from the roof-tops of India to learning how you can make your own microscope. You can also try your hand at becoming a Science TV presenter. Pop along to our first Explorers Fair Expo where you can make your own LED badge, meet the makers of some awesome tech, listen to some fab talks and take part in a multi-sensory version of Frankenstein and more.

Family Fun and Activities

LISTERGATE SQUARE,
intu BROADMARSH // 9am - 5pm
Come and try a range of science activities – microscopes, giant lungs, an indoor planetarium and much more! Professors from the University of Nottingham will be running activities in collaboration with a local artist to encourage people to ask questions about pathology, the body, microbes and the universe. ## Worms!

NATIONAL VIDEOGAME ARCADE //
10am - 5pm

Do you remember the timeless and classic game Worms? As a show of affection to our wormy comrades, the NVA will host some actual real life worms (and their handlers). Find out what happens to worms in space, and, of course, play Worms.

Science of Taste

THiNK AT COBDEN CHAMBERS //
10am - 3pm

THiNK will be hosting its first ever Science Café and playing with your tastebuds as you explore the science of taste with the award winning Kiosk. A 'Scientist in Residence' will also be in to respond to any science questions you've ever wondered about but never had the opportunity to ask.

Get Hands-On with Science

CENTRAL LIBRARY, ANGEL ROW //
11am - 3pm

Drop in and find out about science with live experiments, science demos and lots of hands-on activities for all the family to enjoy.

Natural History Family Day

WOLLATON HALL // 10am - 3:30pm

Get up close to our animals! A close up look at fascinating fossils, surprising skulls and creature colours through Nottingham Natural History collections; follow the dinosaur trail and then design your own dinosaur and dinosaur mask!
